I. Policy

Governing Principles

UTA is committed to providing an educational and work climate that is conducive to the personal and professional development of each individual. The freedoms of speech, expression, and assembly are fundamental rights of all persons and are central to the mission of the University. The University will protect the rights of students, faculty members, staff members, and members of the public to assemble, to speak, and to attempt to attract the attention of others, and corresponding rights to hear the speech of others when they choose to listen, and to ignore the speech of others when they choose not to listen. The University maintains its right to regulate reasonable time, place and manner restrictions concerning acts of expression and dissent.

Those who choose to observe and/or listen to expressive activities, bear the responsibility of recognizing and honoring the right of free speech. Any acts that are disruptive to the normal operations of the University, including classes and University business, or that invade the rights of others will not be allowed. Faculty, staff, and students engaging in a disruptive activity may be subject to disciplinary action. Any participant in a disruptive activity may face criminal charges.

Ideas or expressions put forth in expressive activities are not necessarily the views of UTA, its officers, administrators, or leaders, unless otherwise noted.

Freedom of Speech, Expression and Assembly

In furtherance of the University's educational mission, the University provides forums for the expression of ideas and opinions. These include:

1. Traditional public forums include the University's public streets, sidewalks, parks, and similar Common Outdoor Areas. These areas are generally available, subject to the University's time, place and manner restrictions, for expressive activity by members of the public at any time without the need for reservation or prior approval when the area is not reserved and promoted in advance for an event.
2. Designated public forums include other parts of campus that may become temporarily available for expressive activity as designated by the University. These temporary locations, while in existence, will be treated similar to public streets, sidewalks, and parks in terms of access and availability for expressive activity.
3. Limited public forums have limited open access for public expression, and include the University buildings including their outside surfaces, surfaces associated with or connected to a University building, or a University structure. Limited public forums are open only to the expressive activities of faculty, staff, and students as set forth in this Policy. Student, faculty, and staff organizations may not invite the public at large to events in University buildings, facilities, or locations that are not a common outdoor area.
4. Non-public forums are areas that are not traditional public forums or designated public forums. These forums will be restricted to use for their intended purpose and are not available for public expressive activity. Examples include, but are not limited to, classrooms, residence hall rooms, faculty and staff offices, academic buildings, administration buildings, medical treatment facilities, libraries, and research and computer laboratories.

Additionally, there are areas such as utility buildings, research labs, etc. that may have distance requirements, crowd placement restrictions, and security concerns that may vary depending on security needs, terror alerts, and other factors. Additionally, security needs, terror alerts, local and national events may affect the availability of spaces that would otherwise be routinely available.

Students, faculty, and staff members are free to express their views, individually or in organized groups, orally or in writing or by other symbols, on any topic, in all parts of the campus, subject only to rules necessary to preserve the equal rights of others and the other functions of the University. Teaching, research, and other official functions of the University will have priority in allocating the use of space on campus.

Except as expressly authorized by the section herein on prohibited expression and state and federal law, the University will not discriminate on the basis of the political, religious, philosophical, ideological, or academic viewpoint expressed by any person, either in the enforcement and administration of this policy or otherwise.

The University of Texas at Arlington Police Department (UTAPD) may immediately enforce this Policy if a violation of this Policy constitutes a breach of the peace or compromises public safety.

Scope

This Policy protects and regulates speech, expression, and assembly of students, faculty members, staff members, and members of the public on campus or participating in University sponsored activities. This Policy applies to speech regardless of where it occurs, including off University property, if it potentially affects a University person's education or employment with the University or potentially affects the University community. This Policy regulates speech that is part of the teaching, research, or other official functions of the University. This policy also applies to speech that is submitted for academic credit, and speech made using the University's information resources as defined in its Acceptable Use Policy. The director of Involvement and Engagement (I&E), administers and schedules reservations for the use of the temporary exhibit and banner spaces, and use of University tables, for all University persons and organizations because scheduling through a single office is necessary to avoid conflicts. The Director also administers and schedules reservations in the common outdoor areas and the use of the amplified sound for all University persons, University organizations, and members of the public.

This Policy details individual's and organizations' rights and responsibilities regarding expressive activities at UTA. This Policy does not limit other existing authority of University officials to authorize programs and events sponsored by an academic or administrative unit and not provided for in this Policy.

Rules requiring University employees to make clear that controversial statements are made in their personal capacity are found in the Regents' Rules and Regulations, Rule 10403, Section 9.2. Rules restricting use of University equipment, supplies, services, and working hours for political activities are found in the Regents' Rules and Regulations, Rule 30103.

Prohibited Items or Actions

The following restrictions are intended to protect the health and safety of all persons on campus, to maintain the free flow of pedestrian traffic in and out of University buildings, and to protect the educational mission of the University.

1. A mask, facial covering, or disguise that conceals the identity of the wearer that is calculated to obstruct the enforcement of these rules or the law, or to intimidate, hinder or interrupt a University official, UTAPD officer, or other person in the lawful performance of their duties. This restriction does not apply to facial coverings worn for religious or health reasons.
2. The possession, use, or display of firearms, facsimile firearms, ammunition, explosives, or any other items that could be used as weapons, including but not limited to sticks, poles, clubs, swords, shields, or rigid signs that can be used as a shield, without written permission from the UTAPD Chief or designee, unless authorized by federal, State or local laws.
3. Body-armor or makeshift body-armor, helmets and other garments, such as sporting protective gear, that alone or in combination could be reasonably construed as weapons or body-armor, without written permission from the UTAPD Chief or designee.
4. Open flame, unless approved in advance by UTA Environmental Health and Safety in accordance with applicable policy.
5. No person or organization may engage in expressive activity within a twenty-five-foot clearance around points of entry, and if not a point of entry then within ten feet of the perimeter, of all University buildings.

Prohibited Expression

Obscenity.

No person or organization will distribute or display on the campus any writing or visual image, or engage in any public performance, that is obscene. Obscene is defined in Texas Penal Code, Section 43.21 or successor provisions, and is within the constitutional definition of obscenity as set forth in decisions of the United States Supreme Court.

Defamation.

No person shall publish to a third party any statement that defames any other person. A statement defames another person if it is: (i) published to a third party other than the subject of the statement or their legal representative; (ii) of and concerning that person; (iii) is a false statement of fact; (iv) that holds the person up to hatred, ridicule, or contempt; (v) is made negligently, if the person is a private figure or, if the person is a public official or public figure, with knowledge of falsity or reckless disregard of the truth; (vi) which proximately causes damages; and (vii) is not privileged.

Incitement to Imminent Violations of Law.

No person will make, distribute, or display on the campus any statements that are likely to incite or produce imminent violations of law under circumstances such that the statements are likely to actually and imminently incite or produce violations of law.

Harassment.

No person will engage in conduct that constitutes harassment of another person. No person will make, distribute, or display any statement that constitutes harassment of another person on campus or through University information resources. This Section applies to speech regardless of where it occurs, including off University property, if it potentially affects a University person's education or employment with the University or potentially affects the University community, and includes, all speech made using University resources, including speech that is part of teaching, research, or other official functions of the University whether in person or not, and whether oral, written, or symbolic.

To make an argument for or against the substance of any political, religious, philosophical, ideological, or academic idea is not harassment, even if some listeners are offended by the argument or idea. The categories of sexually harassing speech set forth in HOP Policy EI-PO8 are rarely, if ever, necessary to argue for or against the substance of any political, religious, philosophical, ideological, or academic idea.

In general, verbal harassment will not be tolerated. Verbal harassment may consist of threats, insults, epithets, ridicule, personal attacks, or the categories of harassing sexual speech set forth in HOP Policy EI-PO8. Verbal harassment is often based on the individual's appearance, personal characteristics, or group membership, including but not limited to race, color, religion, national origin, gender, age, disability, citizenship, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or gender expression, ideology, political views, or political affiliation. Verbal harassment has been interpreted very narrowly by the federal courts. This policy will be interpreted as narrowly as need be to preserve its constitutionality.

The harassment that this section prohibits does not include speech that is necessary and appropriate to support a vigorous debate in a diverse community of educated people. An essential part of higher education is to learn to separate substantive argument from personal offense, and to express even the deepest disagreements within standards of civility that reflect mutual respect, understanding, and sensitivity among the diverse population within the University and in the larger society.

Members of the University community are strongly encouraged to report harassment to the Office for Equal Opportunity Services. Any University official, administrator, or supervisor who receives a report of alleged harassment will promptly refer that report and the complainant to the Office for Equal Opportunity Services. A complainant whose report is not forwarded to the Office for Equal Opportunity Services has not initiated proceedings for providing a remedy to the complainant or for imposing discipline on the alleged harasser.

Solicitation & Commercial Speech

No University person, University organization, or member of the public will make, distribute, or display on the campus any statement that promotes, offers, or advertises any product or service for sale or lease that includes commercial identifiers, such as for-profit logos, trademarks, and service marks, or that requests any gift or contribution, except as authorized by UTA HOP Policy CO-UF-PO2 or by the Regents' Rules and Regulations.

General Rules on Means of Expression

Rules regarding disruption of speech, damage to property, coercing attention, and incidental effects on speech are addressed in the Free Speech, Expression, and Assembly Procedure implementing this policy.

Distribution of Literature

Distribution and display of literature on campus, is permitted subject to the rules in this Policy, the Free Speech, Expression, and Assembly Procedure and to the general rules in UTA HOP CO-UF-PO1.

Signs, Banners, and A-Frames

Use of signs, banners and A-Frames is subject to the rules in this Policy, the Free Speech, Expression, and Assembly Procedure and to the general rules in UTA HOP CO-UF-PO1.

Tables, Exhibits, and Amplified Sound

University persons and University organizations may set up tables and exhibits from which to display literature, disseminate information and opinions, and raise funds, and make use of amplified sound, all subject to the rules in this Policy, the Free Speech, Expression, and Assembly Procedure and to the general rules in UTA HOP CO-UF-PO1.

Public Assemblies

“Publicly assemble” and “public assembly” include any gathering of persons, including discussions, rallies, and demonstrations. Rules regarding amplified sound apply to any use of amplified sound at a public assembly. Persons and organizations may publicly assemble on campus in any place where, at the time of the assembly, the persons assembling are permitted to be. This right to assemble is subject to the rules in this Policy, the Free Speech, Expression, and Assembly Procedure, and the rules on use of University property contained in HOP Policy series CO-UF. No advance permission is required in the common outdoor areas.

Guest Speakers

“Guest speaker” means a speaker or performer who is not a student, faculty member, or staff member.

Subject to the rules in this Policy and the Free Speech, Expression, and Assembly Procedure, University persons, University organizations, and members of the public may present guest speakers in common outdoor areas of the campus.

Responding to Speech, Expression, and Assembly

Persons and organizations may respond to the speech, expression, or assembly of others, subject to all the rules in this Policy. Responders may not damage or deface signs or exhibits, disrupt public assemblies, block the view of participants, or prevent speakers from being heard. Means of response that are permitted in many locations and without advance permission or reservation, such as signs, distribution of literature, and public assembly without amplified sound, may be used immediately and in any location authorized in this Policy.

Means of response that require advance permission or reservation, such as temporary banners, A-frames exhibits, general exhibits, and amplified sound, may be used as soon as the needed permission or reservation may be arranged. Temporary banner space, temporary outdoor exhibit space, and some amplified sound areas may be unavailable on short notice because of earlier reservations, but I&E will reasonably expedite approval of available temporary banner spaces, available temporary outdoor exhibit spaces, and amplified sound areas where necessary to permit appropriate response to other speech, assembly, or expression.

Means of response that are confined to authorized locations, such as banners, exhibits, and amplified sound, may be used only in those locations. It is not possible to respond to amplified sound with amplified sound in the same location; similarly, if an exhibit or public assembly is in a location where amplified sound is not permitted, it is not possible to respond with amplified sound in that location. In either case, it is possible to respond with amplified sound in another location and to use signs or distribution of literature to advertise the response at the other location.

Enforcement and Appeals

Police Protection and Additional Administrative Support

It is the responsibility of the University to protect the safety of all persons on campus and when necessary to provide police protection for speakers, public assemblies, persons staffing or viewing exhibits, and other events. The normal patrolling of officers during regular duty areas in the area of such events will be at the cost of the University. When the magnitude, timing, or nature of an event in a University building, University facility, or other area of the University's limited public forum that requires additional or overtime hours from police officers (including contract hours for officers hired from other departments or private security agencies), the University will, to the extent specified in this section, charge the cost of overtime or contract officers to the person or organization sponsoring the event or exhibit that requires overtime police protection. The University will charge for additional police and overtime hours where reasonably possible, but not for additional police and overtime hours made necessary by the content of speech at the event or by the controversy associated with any event. University persons or organizations planning such events should budget for the cost of police protection.

A reasonable and nondiscriminatory fee for overtime police work will be charged to the individual or organization sponsoring an event in a University building, University facility, or other area of the University's limited public forum that require overtime police protection, and charge a price for admission; or have a paid speaker, band, or other off-campus person or organization for services at the event.

The University will have the sole power to decide, after reasonable consultation with the person or organization planning the event, whether and to what extent overtime police protection is required. No fee will be charged for officers assigned because of political, religious, philosophical, ideological, or academic controversy anticipated or actually experienced at the event. All fees will be based on the number of officers required for an uncontroversial event of the same size and kind, in the same place and at the same time of day, handling the same amount of cash. Nothing in this Section applies to any interdepartmental charge or transfer among units or accounts funded by the University.

If an event requires additional assistance from I&E or other units beyond normal work responsibilities or that requires employee overtime, a reasonable and nondiscriminatory fee may be charged to the individual or organization sponsoring the event.

Response to Violations

Individuals or organizations wishing to make a grievance regarding a violation of Texas Education Code § 51.9315 (Protected Speech on Campus) may report it via the University compliance email at compliance@uta.edu. A student or student organization who violates a provision of this Policy may be disciplined under UTA HOP Policy 11. Staff or faculty who violate a provision of this Policy may be disciplined under applicable procedures provided by other policies. If no such procedures exist, violations will be referred to the Office of the Provost or Human Resources as applicable.

Authorized University personnel may prevent imminently threatened violations, or end ongoing violations, of a prohibition in this Policy, by explanation and persuasion, by reasonable physical intervention, by arrest of violators, or by any other lawful measures. Alternatively, or additionally, they may initiate disciplinary proceedings under this Policy. Discretion regarding the means and necessity of enforcement will be vested in the UTA chief of police, or in University personnel designated by the president, as appropriate, but such discretion will be exercised without regard to the viewpoint of any speaker.

University persons and University organizations on the campus must comply with all reasonable instructions from University administrators and law enforcement officials at the scene. A University person or University organization that complies with an on-the-scene order limiting speech, expression, or assembly may test the propriety of that order in an appeal under the appeal section below.

Off-campus person(s) or organization(s) on the campus who violate a prohibition in this Policy may be subject to criminal trespass charges, arrest, or other lawful measures.

Appeals

A University person or organization that is denied permission for an activity requiring advance permission under this Policy may appeal the denial of permission. A University person or organization that complies with an on-the-scene order limiting speech, expression, or assembly may, on or before the fifth weekday after complying with the order, file a written appeal to determine the propriety of the order limiting the speech, expression, or assembly. The question on appeal will be whether, under the circumstances as they reasonably appeared at the time of the order, the appellant's speech, expression, or assembly should have been permitted to continue. Such an appeal may be useful to clarify the meaning of a rule, or to resolve a factual dispute that may recur if the appellant desires to resume the speech, expression, or assembly that was limited by the order. An appeal authorized by this Section must be submitted to I&E within five business days of the action being appealed. The appeal will be forwarded by I&E to the President's designee who will issue a written decision, which will include any corrective action if necessary, to the appellant within five business days. A copy will be provided to the head of the applicable unit which took the action under appeal.

Notice

A link to this policy will be included in any official student or personnel handbooks, posted on UTA's website, and provided to students during freshman and transfer student orientations.
